JOB DUTIES

- Carrying out fieldwork using established protocols to complete assessments and monitoring of the natural environment. Technical areas of emphasis include terrestrial and aquatic vegetation, fish and wildlife (mammals, reptiles, amphibians, birds, insects, etc.), wetlands, species at risk, among others.
- Reporting on a variety of topics pertaining to the natural environment and potential impacts of development for submission to regulatory agencies, including making recommendations related to avoidance, mitigation, and compensation measures and best practices.
- Providing support to project leads including scheduling, staffing, equipment maintenance and regular communication with clients and subcontractors.
- Corresponding with regulatory agencies, municipal bodies and clients using written and verbal methods.
- Contribute to general project tasks including data management, document review, and attendance at meetings/conferences, as applicable.
- Keeping up to date with federal and provincial regulations pertaining to the natural environment that apply to project work.
- Contributing to the preparation of proposals and work plans for future projects.
- Seeking opportunities and business development for future work among current contacts and the broader community.
- Adhering to health and safety protocols for self and support staff.
- Striving to meet internal and external deadlines that may require occasional evening and weekend work.

QUALIFICATIONS (MANDATORY)

- Minimum 3 years employment experience (preferably in consulting environment).
- BSc. and/or Diploma (minimum) in Biology, Ecology, Natural Resource Management or similar.
- Demonstrated experience with standard vegetation and wildlife survey protocols and field identification skills.
- Experience preparing environmental impact studies/statements, natural heritage evaluations, species at risk assessments and/or environmental management plans.
- Familiarity with regionally documented species at risk (SAR).
- Familiarity with Conservation Authority permitting requirements, the provincial Endangered Species Act, 2007, the federal Species at Risk Act, the Provincial Policy Statement, 2014 (PPS) and provincial Plans protecting natural heritage in Ontario.
- Proven technical writing and data management skills
- Demonstrated commitment to high quality client service
- Strong interpersonal, verbal and written communication, and organizational skills
- Ability to work independently and in a team environment
